
Disclaimer:

Tasmanian Irrigation does not guarantee that the pipline alignment presented in this illustration will be the actual alignment when the scheme is constructed.

The alignment presented here is based on the current scheme design, which satisfies expressions-of-interest received. The final scheme design is subject to change and will depend on the outcome of water sales. Changes to the scheme design will affect the alignment.

Tasmanian Irrigation is providing this information to assist irrigators to consider the opportunity of purchasing water entitlements. However, neither the provision of this information or any other information provided in relation to alignment will create any obligation on Tasmanian Irrigation. The only obligation which Tasmanian Irrigation will assume will be an obligation to provide water to the property boundary.
