The map displays a network of pipeline routes. A prominent blue line represents a water body. Several locations are marked with orange circles and labels: Branxholme at the top right, Legefwood in the middle left, and Ringeroot a in the middle right. The draft alignment is shown as a solid red line, while the final alignment is shown as a dashed black and white line. The final alignment follows a more complex path, including a large loop on the right side of the map.
